MONEY MADE UP

The Merchants' Carnival Will be a Success.

Committees Held Another Rousing Meeting Last Night.

The money necessary for the Merchants' Carnival will have all been subscribed by tonight. A meeting of the finance and arrangement committees was held last night at Friedman & Koller's, and Chairman Abo Livingston of the finance committee, reported that all but about $300 had been subscribed to the Carnival fund, and this will be secured sometime today from many who have not been solicited.

A report was made relative to the floats, they to be turned over to representatives from Paducah as soon as the parade in St. Louis is over.

The fireworks committee reported through Mr. J. E. English that the fireworks were in readiness any time they wanted to call for them.

A final meeting will be held in the dining room of the Palmer house tonight, to which all the merchants and citizens are invited, so that the arrangements for the securing of attractions and everything necessary may be completed, also the receiving of a list of the names of the merchants who desire to have a float display in the parade, so the committees may know how many to expect and prepare accordingly.

A NICE SPEECH.

Mr. Evan Prosser Makes a Good Impression on the Eiks.

Mr. Evan Prosser, traveling passenger agent of the B. and O. S. W. railroad who was in the city yesterday on business, was a visitor to Paducah Lodge, No. 217, Eiks, last night.
Mr. Prosser is district deputy in his state, and is one of the most prominent Eiks in the country.

He made the lodge an excellent improvement speech, dwelling on the increase of membership in the order and its rapid and lasting popularity.
It was the best address made before the lodge in some time.

county, Mo., arrived in the city this they secured a marriage license and were married by County Judge Tully in his office. They returned home at once.

WORK ON PUMPING STATION.

Work today began on the sewerage pumping station at the foot of Clay street, under Contractor Katterjohn.
It is to be finished by December, if the machinery can be secured by that time, which is doubtful, as the factory from which the electric motor is to be purchased is three months behind in its orders.

DEWEY'S DAY

New York's Reception to the Manila Hero Begun in Fact Today.

THE BIG NAVAL PARADE

Tonight the City Will "Become a Veritable Blaze of Glory" By Illuminations.

TODAY'S SIGHTS WERE GRAND

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Admiral Dewey arose with the sun this morning and immediately began preparations for the events in his honor today. After breakfast he summoned all commanders of the fleet and instructed them as to the proceedings of the day.
The scene off of Thompsonville this morning was an animated one. Boats that took part in the parade came down the bay in scores and lined up along the Brooklyn shore ready to fall in when the signal was given. Hundreds of small boats gathered about the Olympia and other warships. Flags, colors and shouts filled the air. Hundreds of persons tried to board the Olympia today but were turned away.

Dewey's reception began today under the most auspicious circumstances.
The weather is charmingly bright and clear and crisp, with just enough wind to make flags on a million poles stand out like boards. The city is in a whirl. Early as 6 o'clock the people began moving toward the river to see the great naval parade. By 10 o'clock the banks were black with humanity.
The steamer Sandy Hook, with Mayor Van Wyck, governors of different states and other invited guests took the party to Thompsonville, where the mayor extended Admiral Dewey an official welcome on behalf of the city of New York. Admiral Dewey and his officers stood on the quarterdeck during the mayor's address while the sailors and marines of the Olympia were drawn up in lines forward.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Admiral Dewey and officers returned the visit of Mayor Van Wyck, on the steamer Sandy Hook, just before noon. This was quite a formal visit, but was not without interest.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The grand naval parade began to move from off Thompsonville at 1 o'clock, after a great flurry of signals and a stir of crafts and waving of hunting, the shores being crowded with people.
The Olympia led the van and the route was up North river. At 2:30 the flagship was anchored off Gen. Grant's tomb, to review the seven miles of following parade craft. This is a grand scene such as perhaps was never witnessed before, and the river is alive with people and crafts. This parade will be followed tonight with a display of fireworks and electrical illuminations on North and East rivers and simultaneously in all the boroughs of the greater city.

In the parade Admiral Dewey stood on the quarterdeck, surrounded by his officers, while men lined the rail, waving their caps in answer to the cheers of the multitude.

The inspiring scenes and patriotic demonstrations reached a climax when the Olympia gracefully swung around the stake boat, anchored off the tomb of General Grant, and so go with all her guns, a full general's salute, in honor of the hero whose ashes repose near by. As the road died away the members of the Liederkreis and Arion societies sang patriotic songs in welcome to the admiral.

MAY FREE THEM

American Prisoners Held by Filipinos Near Release.

Filipino Chief Negotiating With Gen. Otis to This End—May Be Delivered Tonight.

MANILA, P. I., Sept. 29.—Gen. Otis and a Filipino chief are corresponding regarding the release of the Americans in the hands of the insurgents.
The negotiations thus far are so successful that it is believed Lieutenant Gillmore and his men, together with the soldier prisoners, will be released tonight or tomorrow. The Filipino aide and secretary have been allowed to visit Gen. Otis.

YELLOW FEVER.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—A general epidemic of yellow fever is feared at Jackson, Miss. Governor McLaunrin, other state officials and many citizens have left town. Business is at a standstill. There were two deaths yesterday. The total number of cases up to date is eleven and the origin of the infection is unknown.
Thirty cases developed at Key West and another death is reported from there. New Orleans has two new cases, and a case is reported twenty-one miles below the city.

I. C. DIRECTORS.

They May Pass Through Enroute to Louisville.

President Stuyvesant Fish and the directors of the Illinois Central are expected to pass through Paducah in a day or two enroute to Louisville on a tour of inspection. The annual meeting of the stockholders held in Chicago Wednesday shows the road to be in fine condition physically and financially. The directors decided to make a tour of inspection, particularly over the Louisville division, where the improvements have been more extensive than on any other part of the system. It is said to be the intention of President Fish to make still further improvements to the terminals in Louisville and vicinity, bringing the road up to the high standard of the system in Chicago and Illinois.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Editorial Association Meets at Eddyville.

Important Matters Considered—Officers Elected for the Year.

There was quite a good attendance at the West Kentucky Editorial Association which met yesterday at Eddyville. Messrs. W. W. Martin and Ben F. Briggs, of Paducah and Mayfield, respectively, went up yesterday.

The association was organized last summer in Dawson, and yesterday the following officers were elected: Ben F. Briggs, president; W. B.
Brewer, vice president; Loving W.
Gaines, secretary; John L. Smith, treasurer. Paducah was selected as the next place of meeting, and the convention will be held some time in January, the time to be fixed later.
Several committees were appointed, among which was one on advertising. Rules of advertising will be formulated and published in every county in the district, and efforts made to have the next legislature pass a bill governing the matter. The association is booming and it is thought will prove one of the most influential in the state.

There was a big barbecue in Lyon county yesterday, attended by thousands of people. The occasion of it was the centennial of the county and the fact that the county is now free from debt. It formerly had $400,000 against it but this has all been paid off and as

CONSPIRACY

WHOLESALE WAR CERTAIN

England is Running Down the Leaders and Hopes to Stop the Game.

TRANSVAAL WAR SEEMS A GO

CAPE TOWN, Sept. 29.—The British authorities have been informed of the plan formulated by the Transvaal and leaders in Cape Dutch, in which all South Africa would be plunged into war should it be carried out.
The plan which is believed to be well matured is to proclaim a South African republic of all territory south of Zambesia as soon as hostil-ties begin. A new general government would then be established with either Steyn or Kruger at the head.
Sir Alfred Milner has had agents engaged running down the conspiracy and wholesale arrests will follow.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The British cabinet met on today for consideration of President Kruger's latest note which came last night. An enthusiastic greeting was given the ministers by the intensely patriotic crowds assembled in Downing street.
It is believed the crisis of the Transvaal negotiation is at hand. In reply Kruger adheres strictly to the terms of the London convention and asks nothing more. Suzerainty is not mentioned.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—President Kruger in an interview printed in the Times is quoted as saying there is no possibility of peace unless the other side does something to make peace possible.

POLICE COURT

Pritchett-Elrod Fend Is Settled for the Present.

Disorderly Conduct Cases Settled by the Court—Other Notes.

But Elrod was this morning arraigned in the police court on a charge of using insulting language towards W. B. Pritchett, the horse trader, formerly of the city but now of Bad-well. Pritchett has been in the city for several days having a good time with his old friends. It appears that last night he and Elrod and several other friends were out together when Elrod got too rough. Pritchett became frightened and swore out a warrant against him for using insulting language and also a peace warrant.
Elrod said he meant no harm and they were only out having a good time together. He was fined $1 and costs, and as Pritchett's fear had seemingly vanished, was only recognized on the peace warrant.

Will Overstreet and Will Haffey were charged with taking away Mr. Claude Ricketts's buggy, keeping it several hours and then leaving it near Twelfth and Trimble streets with the harness cut and the buggy broken. The buggy was taken from Seventh and Trimble streets and it was some time before it could be again located. Mr. Overstreet said he remembered nothing about it. Haffey was fined $20 and costs.
A case against Henry Ricketts, colored, charged with using insulting language towards Ella Leech, was continued.

Will Jackson, colored, charged with stealing $40 and several fine rings from Peyton Harris' residence on Washington street, was tried this morning and held to answer in the sum of $300, which he failed to give, and went to jail in default of bond.

Tuesday, October 3, will be Registration Day. Voters are requested to Register.

THAT PROPOSITION

Committee Agrees to Recommend It.

Lengthy Meeting Last Night in the Council Chamber—Desired Improvements.

Superintendent Harahan, General Agent Donovan, of the Illinois Central Mayor Lang, City Engineer Wilcox and Councilmen Foster and Ezell left the Union depot yesterday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock for the "Y," to inspect the site of the Illinois Central's proposed new depot.

They spent some little time being shown around by the courteous railroad officials, and the site selected for the new depot is just north of the city, between the track of the Louiville division of the I. C. and the N. & S. L. track, so the depot will have one railroad on one side and the other on the other.

In order to reach this, it will be necessary to extend Caldwell street about 1200 or 1500 feet. The fills, two in number, and the bridges will have to be raised four or five feet, en-ailing an expense of about $4,200.

Last night the committee met in the council chamber with the railroad officials, and the matter was fully discussed, until about 10 o'clock.

Superintendent Harahan then made a proposition to furnish all the gravel to the city free of charge. This will cost $1200 or thereabout. The remainder of the cost will be paid by the city, if the council concurs in the recommendation of the committee.

The committee has decided to recommend the acceptance of the railroad company's proposition, and as near as can be learned, the council will support it. There may be some opposition.
The street will be widened to 42 feet or more, which will when completed give the city a fine boulevard. The council meets tonight in called session to consider the proposition, and if the committee's recommendation is concurred in, the work will begin at once.

It is understood that the railroad company will begin work shortly and if there is no other way to get to the new depot when it is complete will run "dinky" trains to and from it until the facilities are provided.

Tuesday, October 3, is Registration Day. Voters are requested to Register.

FIRE AT WINGO.
The tobacco factory and mill of Dr. I. H. Wesson, at Wingo, were destroyed by fire a few days ago. The fire originated in the engine room of the mill. There was no insurance on the mill property, and the loss is about $3,000. The residence of Isaac Brown, which was situated on an adjacent lot, was also destroyed, at a loss of about $1,500, partially covered by insurance.
The tobacco factory was one of the oldest in Graves county and did a thriving business. It will likely be rebuilt at an early date.

REGISTER NEXT TUESDAY.
The federal laws guarantee to every man the right to register and vote, and if any man attempts to rob you of that right find out his name and report the facts. United States Judge Evans' charge to the grand jury is broad enough to put a stop to election crimes or send election hucksters to the penitentiary. Don't fail to register next Tuesday between 6 a. m. and 9 p. m. if you want to strike a blow for decent politics, honest elections and good government.

PUBLIC SPEAKING.
Tonight at 8 p. m. at the city hall Captain Ross, Tennessee's free silver orator, will speak on the present financial policy. He has the reputation of meeting more men in joint debate in 1896 than any man in the south. All are invited to hear him. Organized laborers of Paducah are cordially invited. A welcome extended to all.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 29, 1899.

Dewey is paying the penalty of his greatness today.

The silent pair—Goebel and Woodson—should be picked again by Captain Stone. They have only squirmed heretofore and should be stuck until they squeal.

Today the country's metropolis is doing the graceful thing to a hero home from war. This is Dewey day, or one of his days, and the Greater Gotham city is honoring him for the country he honored.

The Chicago platform speaks of "the prostration of industry and the impoverishment of the people." The phrase serves to mark the difference between Democratic and Republican times.

McLean's position seems to be that if elected governor of Ohio he will be an open candidate for first place on the Democratic ticket next year, and if defeated he will be a dark horse with uncertain designs.

Mr. Bronston, of Lexington, won't be heard in this state canvass. He has declined to speak for Brown and won't talk for Goebel unless he can oppose the three leading planks of the Louisville platform. Brown, it is clear, will "fence it" out in the contest.

The Tennessee regiment, which is the last of the volunteers in the Philippines, is now homeward bound. The last act of the volunteer boys, among whom are many Kentuckians, was to help drive the enemy from Cebu, though they had to disembark from a transport to get into the fight.

There is still a clamor for Dewey for president, and some of the eastern papers are prophesying that the people, irrespective of the politicians, will nominate him, just as they brought about the nomination of Grant. So says a Washington telegram, but the idea will be a memory as soon as the Dewey welcome is well over.

The Owensboro Messenger says Bryan is coming to Kentucky to put his seal of condemnation on the bugaboo of a conspiracy against him in the state. This may be Bryan's wish, but it will not be what he will do. He will only seal the conspiracy as a fact and put his foot in it, so to speak, by coming here. Stick a pin in this for future reference.

Two years ago Col. Sam Houston was the Republican nominee for commonwealth's attorney in this district and in the last presidential election voted for Mr. McKinley for president. What better Republican does the new comers and would-be newspaper men of the Leader want, who accept Mr. Goebel, a gold bug in 1896, as a silver candidate for governor in 1899? Post your selves now, or go to.

Mr. Samuel Houston, the Republican nominee for the legislature, is a man who stands high in the community in which he was raised. He is a gentleman of culture, sound in principle, and one who will represent the people of McCracken county with credit to himself and satisfaction to them. When they vote for Mr. Houston they know they are voting for an able man of excellent judgment, irreproachable character and unswerving integrity.

Since the adjournment of the convention which Mr. Goebel forced to nominate him the voters generally of Kentucky are aroused for the preservation of the integrity of the ballot as they have been aroused upon no other question for a generation. Democratic voters with Republicans in denunciation of the conspiracy against suffrage in this state, and all agree that citizenship must be sunk out of sight in a supreme effort to restore the liberties of the people. The result will be known in November and it will be a vindication of the people's righteousness.

Truly, in the midst of life we are in death. Laughter is, in the twinkling of the eye, changed into rigid silence of dissolution or the lamentation of hearts breaking over lost ones. The specter stalks beside the pleasure seeker and the silver cord is cut by the relentless scythe wielded by old Father Time. The horrors of war stir the soul's depths with sympathy and sorrow. Yet, in the accidents of everyday life, does death reap a continuous harvest far in excess of the battlefield, the camp and the hospital. The horror of war is that men are destroying men. That makes the impression deeper, the shock more far-reaching. In the casual affairs of common-place existence some slip steals a hundred lives away. The public reads, shudders, looks over the fatal list, recognizes no familiar names, and forgets. It is characteristic of human nature that, in the casual events of the passing period, what happens, however pathetic, weighs upon us but lightly, so it doesn't happen to us or ours. Is it a wise provision of Providence against a permanent condition of universal sadness? Perhaps.

MR. GOEBEL'S REFERENCE TO THE HALLAMS.

Louisville Commercial: "It is to be presumed that in his speech at Versailles on Monday Senator Goebel furnished his audience with all of the information that he possessed bearing upon the truth of his offensive personal statement intimating that Mr. Theodore Hallam—a Democrat who opposed his election to the governorship—had a brother in the penitentiary. And if this is the fact, it is more clearly evident than ever before that this reference to the Hallams by Mr. Goebel was one of the conspicuous blunders of his campaign.

"The whole matter grew out of Mr. Goebel's rage at finding opposition to his election and to the endorsement of his election law involved in his elevation to the governorship within his own party. He began to revile the Democrats who dared to question the authority and the acts of the Louisville convention, and among these was Theodore Hallam. 'He may talk about my brothers,' said Mr. Goebel, 'but I never had one in the penitentiary, and that is more than he can say for himself.'"

"Without question, Senator Goebel had great provocation to his offensive expression for his brothers, who had been assailed, were no more an issue in his campaign than the brothers of Theodore Hallam. But it has proved to be the most pronounced boomerang brown since the canvass for the governorship began. Developments from the first indicated that Mr. Goebel's actual reference was to a Hallam who had been a prisoner of war, who wore the record of his incarceration as a badge of honor which had universal recognition among his fellow confederates. The documents which Mr. Goebel read at Versailles established beyond question that the confederate soldier was the man he slandered. The records brought up from Louisiana after a ten days' search do not cover ground enough. They furnish no substantial basis for so explicit a statement as Mr. Goebel's original made. They do not even identify the alleged Hallam who spent a few days in a county jail in Louisiana as a brother of Theodore Hallam. They certainly do not bear out the original intimation that Theodore Hallam had a brother in the penitentiary."

"Mr. Goebel has really furnished the proof that when he made this insinuation in the guise of the confinement of no Hallam in any prison anywhere except the confederate soldier who was a prisoner of war in Illinois, and that he was willing, in gratification of his resentment against Mr. Theodore Hallam, to sign a statement that a man whose only crime was exceptional bravery in a cause to which he had devoted his life, 'It was a blunder of tremendous and increasing proportions.'"

MR. GOEBEL IN VERSAULES

Louisville Post: "Yesterday the Evening Post devoted much space to a history of the accusations made by Mr. Goebel against the brother of Mr. Hallam. Today we give place to two other statements made in that speech. Enigmatically reported for the Evening Post, which we deem of very great importance to any self governing community.

"In the first place, Mr. Goebel repeats his statement made heretofore, and heretofore stated, that at the head of the Kentucky county Democratic committee in 1896 he increased Mr. Bryan's majority over the majority given Mr. Cleveland in 1892 500 votes. This is interesting simply as showing the people of Kentucky what faith they may put in the utterances of Mr. Goebel. It is, in other words, a test of his veracity, which any man may apply to his utterances.

"In 1892 in Kentucky county the Cleveland vote was 5,686; the Harrison vote was 3,494, giving Mr. Cleveland a majority over Mr. Harrison of 2,192. In 1896 the vote in Kentucky county was 7,008 for Mr. Bryan and 6,165 for Mr. McKinley, the majority for Mr. Bryan was 843, a reduction of 1,249, instead of an increase of 500 in the Democratic majority.

"This is simply an incident in the campaign, but the other fact to which we refer is one of most profound concern. Mr. Goebel boasts that as temporary presiding officer of the senate, he, in order to defeat what is known as the 'Fusion Bill,' refused to put to a vote any motion except a motion to adjourn, and that he did this because the supporters of the measure (that is, because the representatives of the people of Kentucky), had the votes to pass it.

"The fate of that bill is not of great importance; the means by which it was beaten are of far-reaching importance. 'In violation of his oath of office, in violation of the rules of the senate, in violation of the constitutional rights of the people of Kentucky,' Mr. Goebel, the temporary presiding officer of the senate, refused to put any motion to that body save a motion to adjourn. 'We wonder that Judge Redwine did not quote this precedent when he was presiding over the Music Hall convention. It is true, Mr. Redwine improved on his example, for he refused even to put a motion to adjourn, but the principle in each case is the same—Redwine simply embodied Goebelism and followed the precedents laid down by his master.

"But in this confession the people of Kentucky have from Mr. Goebel the announcement of a new doctrine absolutely irreconcilable with Democracy. The first principle of Democracy is the rule of the will of the people, the one cause for the existence of the party is that it may give force and effect to the will of the people. Mr. Goebel declares that his will is above that of the people; that his purposes must be accomplished regardless of laws and constitution, and that he must triumph in the face of adverse majorities, even though it be through force and fraud.

"We note that some of the apologists of Mr. Goebel have said that this is a campaign of slander; if it is so, the chief slanderer of Mr. Goebel is Mr. Goebel himself. No true cause that of slander could be laid to the charge of Mr. Goebel greater than this: That as speaker of the senate of Kentucky he usurped power, ignored the representative of the people, trampled under foot the very laws of the body over which he was presiding, and after he had effected the defeat of a bill demanded by a majority of the members, but forbidden by Mr. Goebel, of Kentucky county.

"What Mr. Goebel by his own confession did in the senate the people know he did in the Music Hall convention. What he did in the senate and in the convention he will, if it be possible, repeat at the polls in November if his opponents have a majority of the votes. If under the law a free ballot is permitted he knows that he is beaten. As he has seized power before, and substituted force for law, he is prepared in the last desperate moments of this campaign to repeat the crime he committed at Frankfort and at Louisville.

"The question for the people of Kentucky to decide is whether in the light of this record written by his own hand proclaimed by his own voice, they will submit again to the triumph of violence, perfidy and duplicity, simply because it is done in the name of Democracy."

PROTECT KENTUCKY BALLOT.

Cincinnati Commercial Tribune: "While there has been much feeling and no end of argumentous discussion in Kentucky over the probable attempt of the Goebelize Democracy to vitiate the ballot by means of the election law passed for that specific purpose, by its respective beneficiary, it is probable that beneath this apprehension there has steadily run an undercurrent of doubt that these Democratic desperadoes would so audaciously defy public opinion. It has been difficult for an honorable and a chivalrous people to conceive among probabilities such a sinking of manhood into the utter depths of political degradation. In spite of their conviction, the people of Kentucky have hoped for the state's deliverance from so shameful a disgrace.

"But they hope no longer. They are brought to a realization of the real intentions and determined designs of William Goebel and his subservient in vying upon the ballot in Kentucky. In very truth, no one with knowledge of his character and of his career has ever doubted that William Goebel, himself, would insist upon an absolute rebanch of the ballot. His seizure by chicanery and force of arms of his nomination left no doubt of his plan of campaign. It was in a lingering leaning upon the broken reed of Kentucky chivalry and political honesty in high places that hope bolstered up faith. There was a reluctance to believe that an ex-chief justice of the Kentucky bench and an ex-congressman, distinguished for his manliness no less than his ability in the past, would lend themselves servilely to the aid of a notoriously corrupt and conscienceless politician's carefully planned schemes of suffrage suppression. It is a shock to sensibility that men whom the people have deigned to honor, men who, in the private and professional walks of life, regard integrity as above price, should in politics waive all rule of right and equity, substituting with cool effort the rule of might and the law of low trickery.

The Republicans of Kentucky in this contingency precipitated by the course of the Goebel commissioners, actual and contemplated, are confronted by a crisis. That the Goebelize Democracy of the state has determined upon an audacious attempt to seize the polls and vitiate the ballot is no longer so palpably manifest as to leave no room for question. It is a desperate game, conceived in the crafty brain of a conscienceless and desperate politician, and as ever recognized a party by his forced leadership or shamed a state by his treachery of power. A desperate game will be beaten alone by desperate resistance. It rests with the Republicans of Kentucky to determine whether they will assert their manhood and save an independent suffrage or will submissively submit to the bullying of blusters and the trickery of thieves.

"The manhood of Kentucky is non-partisan. Surely the Republican party has its proportion of the courage that is a Kentucky characteristic. Furthermore, the real courage of the Kentucky Democracy is not Goebelize. It yet stands for honesty of purpose and independence of suffrage. Reinforced by this, it is the fault of the Republican party in Kentucky if it permits itself to be held up and robbed by Goebel and his fit following of political freebooters.

DEWEY IN TEARS.

Presentation to Him of a Memorial Flag Touches His Heart

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—An incident of yesterday is thus mentioned: Commander Geo. W. Ward, who sailed with Farragut and Dewey in the West Gulf squadron in 1861, unrolled a package which he had carefully guarded all the way to the Olympia, and displayed a faded blue admiral's ensign, upon which were stitched four white stars. He said to Admiral Dewey:

"I wish to present to you the first admiral's flag ever 'hooked' cut' in the navy of this country. That grand old admiral whose name and memory all so reverently hoisted this ensign upon the good ship Hartford before New Orleans, and afterward on the Franklin, and since it came down from that masthead it has never been whipped by the wind or worn by the elements. You, the worthy successor of that great admiral whose tactics you successfully followed a short while ago, I deem the proper person for Farragut's mantle to fall upon."

The flag was made by Quartersmaster Knowles out of a blue "number" flag when Farragut was first made a rear admiral. Two white stars were sewed upon it. When Farragut was made an admiral two more stars were sewed upon it.

Admiral Dewey was deeply affected and tears were in his eyes when he gazed at the souvenir. It was several moments before he could find his voice. Finally he said: "I'll fly it. I'll fly it at the masthead. I'll fly it in the parade. I'll fly it always—and when I strike my admiral's flag this will be the flag I shall strike."

This was the most impressive scene that has occurred on the Olympia since her arrival in this port, and for some time no one spoke.

WHEELER'S TONGUE

Fires Loose at Clinton and Gets Him Rebuked.

From the Louisville Post: CLINTON, Ky., Sept. 28.—Charley Wheeler made one of his characteristic speeches here Monday for the Music Hall ticket. In course of remarks he charged that Republicans would steal anything unless it was red hot or nailed down, and that there was not a Republican in Hickman county but could be bought.

M. D. Johnson, a Republican of this place, arose and denounced Wheeler as a liar. Mr. Ed Jones, another Republican, of Moscow, followed by denouncing Wheeler as a — liar, and started towards him, but friends interfered and kept him from Wheeler. The incident almost broke up the speaking. Wheeler not attempting to resist the denunciations.

The Goebelites are greatly displeased and regard Wheeler's remarks as a costly blunder, and some of the Goebelites, leaders in Hickman county are outspoken in saying that Wheeler should be taken off the stump, as he is injuring the cause. Two ex-county officials, who are for Brown, said they would keep up his unwarranted attacks upon people who are not for Goebel. Wheeler is credited with saying after the speaking that it had been a failure.

The Fort Wayne, Ind., street rail way lines were sold at receiver's sale and were bid in by Gen. George A. Garretson, a Cleveland banker, who is at the head of a syndicate holding bonds and claims against the company for $3,000,000. The amount bid was $1,092,000.

Observations
....at Random.
 There are many weddings yet to be announced, and although the couple are generally known, and their marriage is freely talked of, they will not permit the announcement to be made public through the papers.
 There are many of those whom ru-nor has said are to be wed, however, who deny the reports. It is probable, however, if not absolutely certain, that there are to be more weddings this fall in Paducah than for many years.
 One young lady, when asked about her marriage, solemnly denied it, and said that she would never marry in the fall of the year, for she was always sad then and knew she would make her husband think she was always mad at him. So look for the announcement of her marriage about next spring.

When the new telephone cards are put in the telephone girls as well as the patrons of the company will be spared many embarrassing controversies.
 When a person asks for another person's house and the young lady at Central demands the number, the lady is likely to get mad and retort that she doesn't know the number as she has no telephone card. Several such quarrels as these have resulted, but the cards are soon to be in, and then it will be easier on all concerned.
 Since the new phones were placed in people's residences, it has been impossible to tell who has a telephone or what the number of it is.

John Matthews, the venerable porter at the Palmer House, happened up in a sample room the other day where some ladies were examining dress goods. One remarked:
 "This pattern is just pretty, but it is a little too 'fussy'." John was sorely puzzled for awhile to know what it meant, and finally when he asked the drummer, the drummer replied:
 "Well, John, whenever a man has to pay for goods like those, he usually raises a disturbance, and for this reason we call it 'fussy' goods." When John found out the price he said he didn't wonder.

When you motion for a street car and see the motorman apparently doesn't see you, remember that he is behind time, and really can't help it. He isn't expected to stop any when he is behind the car.

A youngster of the North side asked his father the other day what a "circulating library" was.
 "It's one of these fellows who buys a lot of books on the installment plan, and then costs the company $500 to keep track of him with his collectors," was the reply of the father, who was once a collector for a book concern himself.

Paducah's gallery gods are the marvel of more than one stranger who visits the opera house. They have a peculiar way of amusing the audience both during the performance and between acts. The other night during the most impressive scenes the strain was too great for some of the urinals and they applauded to show their feelings.
 In one scene when Mephisto attempts to get Marguerite, a small boy in the gallery piped amid the stillness, "Not 'yit! Not 'yit!"
 He yelled it in a triumphant tone that would have done credit to the blackest stage villain that ever strutted before the footlights, and it completely destroyed the solemnity of the scene for those who heard it.
 A gentleman who was in Morton's for the first time recently remarked when he got out that the gallery gods here were perfect geniuses and were worth going to see as much as the show itself.

 that such a thing was impossible and unconstitutional. Possibility of all members in the house there was not one who would not have declared such a proposition likewise to be in opposition to the constitution. No less an authority than James D. Richardson, of Tennessee, the best parliamentarian in congress, who is seldom mistaken in matters where the constitution is concerned, said that such an election could not stand for five minutes; that it was in direct opposition to the constitution.
 The matter was under discussion in a small gathering of politicians at the corner of Fourteenth and F streets, at which Mr. Richardson was present.
 Representative Joy, who was also present, said that it was his opinion that the house was compelled to elect a member of the house as speaker, that any one who was not a member of that body could not be chosen. This was the opinion of every man of prominence here, and Mr. Richardson went so far as to say that the constitution expressly provided that the house should choose one of its own members for the speakership. Some dispute arose as to the exact wording of the constitution, and so the party adjourned to the Edge House, where a copy of the constitution was secured.

Much to the surprise of everyone present it was found that the Hon. J.
 Hamilton Lewis was the only one who was right, and that the proposition which he advanced was perfectly permissible, so far as the constitution was concerned. This ancient and essential document merely says that the speaker and other officers shall be elected by the house. Not a word about the speaker being a member of the body, any more than there is about the clerk or sergeant-at-arms. Mr.
 Joy has looked into the matter later, and says that should the representatives decide to elect an outsider as speaker that there is nothing in the constitution on which such an election could be declared either unconstitutional or illegal.

The proposition advanced by Mr.
 Lewis was to elect some one for speaker who was not a member, and who could not dictate to the house any more than the vice president can dictate to the senate. The speaker, if elected as Mr. Lewis would have him, could not vote, shake only when a tie, and the house would have the selection of committees, which would take this power out of the hands of the speaker. There seems to be no danger, however, that anyone will ever usurp the prerogatives of the house to the extent when such a radical move would be necessary.

Nervous Prostration is frequently so sudden that the person loses the use of the limbs, in fact, for a while they appear paral-yzed. This utter giving out of the whole body at once is so alarming that the patient sometimes sinks into lethargy from shock. Something has to be done at once.

Pabst Malt Extract
The Best Tonic is an instant invaluable remedy for all cases of nervous prostration. It requires no help for its digestion, immediately tones up the nerves, counteracts the sinking and faintness and warms the whole system, creating renewed action of the heart, sending fresh pulses of blood to the brain and putting the sufferer into a condition of readiness to begin once more on a better foundation.

BOLD CONFESION.
 Goebel's Bill Passed to Insure His Election.
 BENTON, Ky., Sept. 29.—General H. L. Lyon, Goebel nominee for representative from this district and an ardent admirer and supporter of Bill Goebel and his election law, in an interview here this week said:
 "The Goebel election law was framed and passed to place the Democratic party in power and keep it there." He illustrated the intentions of the law and its framers by quoting the old story of a man who sent his son out into the business world and told him "To make money, make it honestly if you can, but if you can't make it honestly, make money."

INSOMNIA
 "I HAVE BEEN USING CASCARETS for over twenty years and I can say that Cascarets have given me more relief than any other remedy I have ever tried. I shall certainly recommend them to my friends as being all that is represented."

COLORED FAIR.
 The first day of the first fair of the Colored Fair Association opened yesterday in this city with a small attendance owing to the inclement weather. The races were good but few, as most of the entries were made for today. The exhibits and decorations in the floral hall are very nice; among them is to be seen some of the very best needle work to be seen any where.
